Connectional Class Meeting: A Response to Our National Events

How dost thy soul prosper?

As our nation navigates this season of transition, let us gather as one AME family for hope, healing, and holy community

Dear AME Church Family,

Register now for our Connectional Class Meeting on Thursday, December 12, 2024, at 7:00 PM Eastern Time: <https://bit.ly/AMEClassMeeting>

The election results have stirred deep emotions throughout our connection. Some of us carry heavy burdens of concern for our families and communities. Others wrestle with questions about the path forward. Many seek to understand how to maintain hope while engaging in necessary justice work. In this critical moment, we need each other more than ever.

Drawing on our powerful tradition of AME Class Meetings - gatherings that sustained our ancestors through slavery, Reconstruction, Jim Crow, and beyond-we will create a sacred space for authentic sharing and mutual support. In small groups led by trained facilitators, you will find:

A safe space to speak your truth

A community that understands your journey

Strength for the road ahead

Resources for continued support

Connection with others across our denomination

Our gathering takes place during Advent when we remember that God's light shines brightest in seasons of darkness. Together, we will hold space for both lament and hope, allowing the Spirit to weave us more tightly together as a connectional church.

The 90-minute virtual gathering includes worship and small group sharing. You will need a computer or tablet with a camera and microphone to participate fully.

Register today as space is limited: <https://bit.ly/AMEClassMeeting>

In times like these, the strength of our connection matters more than ever. Your presence will help create a community of support across our denomination, strengthening us all for the days ahead.

Sincerely,

Rev. Dr. Roderick D. Belin, Publisher
